What is a Gender Pay Gap?

Organisations with over 250 employees are in their third year of reporting on their Gender Pay Gap across a range of metrics. The main focus of the gender pay gap is to show the difference between the average hourly remuneration of men and women within an organisation.

Gender Pay is not the same as Equal Pay. Gender Pay does not compare employees on the basis of their roles, job titles, length of service or experience. Instead it looks at total remuneration and expresses any difference in remuneration between genders as a percentage.

Our Results

Although adhering to certain standard rates of pay, particularly at entry level and amongst our staff population, Dunnes Stores sees its employees as individuals with varying experience and potential. As would be expected, remuneration levels are often determined by these attributes. Remuneration can also take into account individual performance. It does not take into account the gender of employees.

The nature of the gaps that are present illustrate Dunnes Stores' gender neutral approach to pay.

Dunnes Stores will continue to monitor its recruitment and promotion policies to ensure that there is no bias towards either gender. Our aim is to provide long-term, satisfying careers where every individual, at every level, has the opportunity to maximize their skills and evolve with the company. Dunnes Stores is an equal opportunities employer.
